GROUND UNDER WHEELS OF TRAIN

Mr. A. Weatherly Meets Horrible Death.

Was Walking Along Track Near Water Works When He Fell Suddenly Beneath Wheels of Passenger Train—Survived by Wife and Two Children—The Funeral From Church of Covenant Tomorrow Afternoon.

Yesterday morning about 9:30 o'clock Mr. Andrew Weatherly was run over and horribly mangled by an incoming train from Madison, on the Mt. Airy division of the Southern. The body was so badly crushed and disfigured that it was some time even after the remains were taken to E. Poole's undertaking establishment, before it could be identified. Many at first thought it to be that of Mr. W. G. Jennings, who conducts a brick plant near the water works near where the accident occurred.

One of the first to view the body after it was brought to the city, was Mr. Charles Hiatt, who declared it to be his belief that the body was that of Mr. Jennings. Mr. C. W. Jennings was called in, and upon being asked if it was the body of his brother, said he believed it was.

Deputy Sheriff Weatherly, a brother of the deceased, first declared that it was not his brother who had met the terrible fate, but afterward said he believed it was when Chief of Police C. F. Neelley said he was certain that Mr. Weatherly was the man who had been killed. Upon searching the clothing, a receipt was found bearing the signature of A. Weatherly. This practically assured those in the investigation that Mr. Weatherly had been the most unfortunate victim of the terrible accident. And when Mr. Jennings was found to be at home, perfectly innocent of anything like so deplorable an occurrence, doubt was at an end, and every one was certain that Mr. A. Weatherly had met his death by being crushed under the wheels of the incoming train.

Tom Jones was the only witness to the accident, excepting the fireman of the train. He says that Mr. Weatherly was walking along the side of the track, not far from the water works, north of the city; that the train was moving slowly, having slackened speed; and that Mr. Weatherly fell on the track, the pilot striking him before any one could go to his aid.

Engineer Fountain and Fireman Ballard were in charge of the engine. The train was coming in from Madison and did its fatal work about 9:30 o'clock.

Engineer Fountain did not see Mr. Weatherly. Fireman Ballard said that the unfortunate man was walking just ahead of the engine and fell, but it was too late to bring the train to a stop. The head of the man was crushed to a pulp, both hands and legs were severed, and the body mutilated almost beyond recognition.

Mr. Weatherly was evidently in that neighborhood in the interest of his business, that of real estate. It is thought that he had gone out to collect some rents from tenants in that locality, having left home about 7:30 o'clock.

It could not be learned just what occasioned his sudden fall, but it is said that he most probably had an attack of vertigo, to which disease he was subject at intervals, and fell before the oncoming train while in the helplessness of one of these sudden spells.

Mr. Weatherly was about sixty years of age and had lived in Greensboro all his life, having been born on the spot where now stands the Greensboro National Bank, on the 20th of June, 1851. He was a man of quiet habits and demeanor and had for years been an active member and later deacon in the Church of the Covenant, Presbyterian.

Last Tuesday his only daughter, Miss Cordy, one of the most lovable and deservingly popular young women of the city, was married to Mr. Thomas Tate. The happy couple were on a bridal tour at the time of the sad accident. Mrs. Tate is expected to reach Greensboro today in answer to the sad summons to attend the funeral of a beloved father.

Mr. Andrew Weatherly was the son of Mr. Andrew and Mrs. Margaret Weatherly. He leaves one brother, Deputy Sheriff John Weatherly, and four sisters, Mrs. W. P. Caldwell, of Greensboro; Mrs. W. R. Murray, of Greensboro; Mrs. Alice Davidson, of Black Mountain; Mrs. S. H. Jordan, of Conover. None of his parents is living. All the brothers and sisters are here to witness the sad rites.

He is survived by a widow; a daughter, Mrs. Tate; and Earl Weatherly, a young son.

The remains were carried last night to the family residence, 401 South Eugene street.

The funeral will be conducted by Rev. R. Murphy Williams from the Church of the Covenant, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The interment will be in Greene Hill cemetery.

PETITION BLANKS LOOKING TO TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION

A Form That May Be Used With Such Modifications As May Be Desired. To the Temperance Workers of North Carolina:

In as much as there is a demand already upon us to furnish petition blanks for use in our temperance work before the next Legislature, we herewith append a form that may be used with whatever modifications desired.

There is no doubt that the sentiment over the state at this time is demanding the very things mentioned in this petition, and we suggest to those who want to see our Legislature take early action, that they immediately write out a petition and get their friends of the cause throughout their neighborhood to sign it in the next few days, and then send that petition to the N. C. Anti-Saloon League, Wilson, N. C. This will insure its getting before the Legislature.

R. L. DAVIS, Supt., N. C. Anti-Saloon League. To the General Assembly of North Carolina:

We, the undersigned citizens of _____ County, North Carolina, do respectfully but earnestly petition your Honorable Body to enact, at this session of the Legislature, a general law for the State, which will prohibit the sale of near-beer and the sale of intoxicating liquors by clubs.

We also beg you to memorialize the Congress of the United States to so amend our present Inter-State Commerce laws that intoxicating liquors shipped into the state may fall under the jurisdiction of the State as soon as they cross the border line. This is the day of January, 1911.

Respectfully submitted,

THIEVES ARRESTED.

Police Arrest Negroes on Charge of Breaking Into H. M. Howard's Store.

Policemen Causey and McCusick yesterday arrested Ollie Henry and McDonald Wood, two negro youths, on the charge of breaking into the store of Mr. H. M. Howard, of Julian street, Thursday night and stealing a quantity of groceries. At the same time they arrested Bessie DeGraffenried, a colored woman, on the charge of receiving and concealing the goods, a part of which were found in her trunk.

The arrest was made at the home of Ed Coletrane, colored, in Armstrong's alley, a little side street which runs from Gorrell to East Lee between Sampson and Macon.

Meal, flour, sugar, coffee, canned goods and sewing thread were the articles stolen. The accused will be given a hearing Monday morning by Judge Eure.

EX-GOV. AYCOCK DENIES REPORT

Will Not Oppose Senator Simmons.

Governor Kitchin Has No Statement To Make At This Time—Aycock Says He Will Not Be Candidate—Argument of Counsel In Standard Oil Case Concluded Yesterday Afternoon—Farmers' Institutes.

Raleigh, Dec. 31.—Reports published in Washington and elsewhere that ex-Governor Aycock and Governor Kitchin are active candidates for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Simmons brought about an expression today from ex-Governor Aycock that he is not and will not be a candidate. And from Governor Kitchin that "The Washington story is interesting but I have no statement to make about its subject matter at this time."

Attorney General T. W. Bickett, for the prosecution and James H. Poi for the defense closed the argument today in the noted case against the Standard Oil Company in which the State alleged violation of the anti-trust law in cutting prices of oil to drive out competition so that prices may again be advanced. Mr. Bickett consumed practically all the morning session with his argument and the afternoon was taken up with the speech of James H. Poi, summing up the case for the defense. Both were masterful arguments and they have put the case up to Police Justice Stronach in a clear cut and positive manner. There remains now only the decision of the justice as to the guilt or innocence of the Standard. If he rules "guilty" then there will be the imposition of his fine and the appeal of the Standard to the higher courts. If he dismisses the case then there will be an end of the prosecution.

Counsel for the Standard argue that nothing has been proven in the investigation except that prices of oil have followed the law of supply and demand and a downward tendency of prices generally and that even now the prices in Raleigh are not as low as they ought to be with the wholesale price at 7 1/4 cents and the Norfolk and Baltimore prices 4 1/2 cents. On the other hand the prosecution is insisting that a case against the Standard is made out in that the cuts have only come within the year after the competition entered the field, that cuts by the Standard are shown to be considerably below what oil can be gotten here for to supply the wholesale trade. They claim also to have proven that the Standard is selling its oils lower here than in neighboring towns to a degree that proves purpose of fighting competition.

Commissioner of Labor and Printing M. L. Shipman is being congratulated on his very complete and valuable annual report, the twenty-fourth annual for the department, and the exceptionally prompt issuance of it. These printed reports are generally gotten out any time during the first half of the year following the period the report covers. This time, however, Mr. Shipman has the complete report in ample time for the General Assembly. It is chock full, too, of the most valuable information about every phase of North Carolina manufactures, labor and other conditions. The report goes into every part of the state and into every other state in the Union and to foreign countries, being a most creditable presentation of the real facts about the state and its commercial status and opportunities.

The Record Broken.

During the month of December one hundred and twenty-three marriage licenses were issued from the office of Register of Deeds Rankin. In December, 1909, the total number was 109 and the preceding year 95. The largest number issued a single day was on Saturday, Dec. 24, when seventeen couples secured license.

New Year's At Postoffice.

On Monday, January 2d, (being a legal holiday) all windows of the Greensboro postoffice will be closed after 12 o'clock noon. The morning city deliveries will be made as usual. There will be no afternoon deliveries. R. D. Douglas, Postmaster.

PROPOSED RATE OF CITY TAXES

Will be $1.30 on The $100 Valuation.

And Three Dollars and Ninety Cents on the Poll—The Provisions in New Charter Not Clearly Expressed—Will Be Amended So As To Clearly Set Matter Forth Before Charter Is Sent to Legislature—Tax Sections.

Inasmuch as the three sections of the proposed charter relating to taxes do not clearly express the exact amount of taxes that is proposed to be levied a Telegram reporter called on a member of the committee yesterday and asked him to explain the sections, which are given below:

"Sec. 24. That the Board of Commissioners shall annually, at the time other taxes are levied, levy a tax for school purposes of thirty cents on the hundred dollars of property assessed for taxation in Greensboro, and ninety cents on each taxable poll, which amount shall be collected as other taxes, and deposited with the city treasurer as other city funds, and the same shall be kept exclusively for school purposes, and a separate account thereof shall be kept by the tax collector and the city treasurer. Provided, that if the tax levied and collected for school purposes should, in the opinion of the superintendent and Board of Commissioners prove to be more than is sufficient to provide for adequate system of public schools, and more than is necessary to accumulate a sufficient fund to meet the demands for public school buildings, then and in that event the said board may convert any excess of such fund into the general funds of the city of Greensboro."

"Sec. 67. That for the purpose of raising revenue for defraying the expenses incident to the proper government of the city, the Board of Commissioners of the city of Greensboro shall have the power, and they are hereby authorized, to levy and collect, for general purposes, an annual ad valorem tax on all real and personal property within the corporate limits of said city, and on all personal property, including money on hand and solvent credits owned by residents of said city, and on all other property subject to an ad valorem tax under the laws of the State of North Carolina, not exempt from taxation by the constitution and laws of the said state, of and at the rate of not exceeding eighty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of said property, and for the purpose of paying interest on municipal bonds said board shall levy and collect an annual ad valorem tax on all property subject to taxation, as hereinbefore provided, of not more than fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of said property. The term "real property," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean the same as defined in Section 2857 of the Revised of 1905, and the term "personal property," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean all property which is not real."

"Sec. 68. Said board may also levy, and collect for general purposes, a poll tax not exceeding one dollar and eighty cents, and for the purpose of paying interest on the municipal bonds of said city a poll tax not exceeding one dollar and twenty cents, said poll tax to be levied on the taxable polls of all male persons who may be residents of the city on the first day of June of each year."

Section 24, it will be observed, was drawn to provide a separate fund for school purposes. At present the funds are all lumped together and so much apportioned for the schools, but it was believed that it would be much more satisfactory to have a separate school fund, hence this section.

A reading of the two sections would impress one that this fund for the schools would be additional to the taxes provided in section 67, but it was not so intended. Section 24 was drawn after the above section and it was not afterwards amended as it should have been to make the intent more clear. Section 67 should be amended so as to read, beginning with line 18 of the section "at the rate of not exceeding fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of said property;" or so as to read "at the rate of not exceeding eighty cents on the hundred dollars valuation of said property, including the thirty cents for school purposes." This would show that the total levy would be $1.30 on the $100 valuation, the same as at present.

In case the latter amendment suggested should be adopted then section 68 would have to be amended also. This section fixes the poll at $3 for all purposes. The poll should be $1.80 for general purposes, $1.20 for paying interest on municipal bonds and $0.90 for schools, making a total poll of $3.90 or the equal of the tax on $300 worth of property.

While the rate on the property would not be increased there would be an increase of 40 cents on the poll, this now being $3.50.

AN AVIATOR KILLED

John B. Moissant Falls One Hundred Feet and Lands on His Head—Dies From Injuries.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 31.—John B. Moissant, the aviator, was fatally injured at the 10:25 this morning at Harahan station, three and one-half miles above New Orleans, when his machine turned head downward at an altitude of 100 feet, throwing Moissant out. He landed on his head.

Harahan is a station on the Illinois Central railroad, several miles west of New Orleans. On one side lies the Mississippi river and on the other a small strip of swamp land separates it from Lake Pontchartrain. The air currents in that section are peculiar on account of the topography of the land, gales frequently sweeping westward along Lake Pontchartrain and meeting a heavy rush of wind along the river, causing whirls in the air, which have been noted as dangerous by several aviators flying in that section. The station is accessible to New Orleans only by the road which runs along the top of the levee and the railroad.

Moissant, in his 50-horsepower Bleriot monoplane, with a special 35-gallon gasoline tank aboard left the aviation field in this city at 10:05 o'clock and flew to Harahan, where special grounds had been laid out over which the aviator was to try for the Michelin cup.

Moissant circled the field twice trying to find a landing place. This was difficult, the field being on the edge of the Mississippi river.

Suddenly, from some cause, which may never be known, the monoplane turned its head completely downward, the horrified watchers saw Moissant pitch clear over the head of the machine, fall like a plummet for a distance of fully 100 feet, landing on his head.

The machine, with the propeller still working, turned sidewise and fell, a complete wreck.

Moissant was rushed to a flat car and hurried to a hospital in this city. He was still breathing when placed aboard the flat car, but he was dead when the special reached this city from Harahan.

He was noted for his daring among the other aviators and while here had flown in much higher winds than that which caused the accident.

Moissant had a sister married living in San Francisco, two sisters with him here, Matilda and Lulu, and one brother, Alfred J., who was president of the international aviators, who was not present when the accident occurred.

Moissant had two brothers in Salvador, all being interested in the banking business.

The dead airman was born in Chicago, was of French descent and was not married. While no arrangements have been made as to the disposition of the body, it will probably be shipped to Chicago.

Fire Alarm Box Twenty-Seven.

Last night a few minutes past 12 o'clock an alarm was turned in from box 27, located near the A. & M. College. The fire boys responded promptly, but found no fire, it being evident that the box was pulled by some mischief making negro. Chief Taylor stated last night that he intended moving the box to some other locality, as a number of false alarms have been turned in from this box recently. He said that the boys did not mind responding if there was a fire but it aroused their ire to have to go to the same place several times to answer a false alarm. And if the thing was kept up they would soon get so they would hesitate to go when there was a fire, thinking it was only a fake.

PREPARING FOR SERIOUS WORK

With Beginning of The New Year.

Woman's Club Will Hold January Meeting on Next Saturday—All Departments Are Quite Active—The Year Book Will Be Placed With Members on Next Saturday—Civic Department Meets Jan. 10.

With the beginning of the glad New Year—so full of opportunities and untold possibilities—the Greensboro Woman's Club is preparing to get down to serious work.

The January meeting of the general club will be held next Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the usual place—assembly room of Carnegie library—and it is earnestly hoped that there will be a full attendance. At that meeting the Year Book will be distributed and several important matters will come before the club. The departments are all doing good work and new members are urged to hand in their names Saturday for membership in one or more of them. By not doing so they are losing much of the pleasure and all the benefits of the club in fact are throwing away opportunities for self-culture and public service.

The Year Book from the press of the Joseph J. Stone Printing Company, Greensboro, is well gotten up and attractively printed and makes a good showing for so young a club. The State Federation Year Book, from the same press, is up to the usual standard of this well-known printing establishment—artistic in design and a model of typographical neatness.

The next meeting of the civic department will be held Tuesday morning, Jan. 10, at Carnegie library, when definite plans will be mapped out for some undertakings by the department which will be worth while.

Ladies desiring to join the club at the next regular meeting should send in their names at once to the president, Mrs. G. W. Whitsett.

DR. SMITH'S BERLIN LECTURE.

Copy In English Received At Public Library.

The public library has just received from Berlin a copy of the "Internationale Wochenschrift" a literary publication containing a most able lecture by Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, Roosevelt professor of the University of Berlin, on the theme "The American Short Story." Fortunately for students of this topic and Dr. Smith's friends in his home town this lecture is printed in English.

Numerous calls come to the library for reading on this popular subject and several interesting volumes have recently been purchased to meet this growing demand. It is safe to say that nothing already owned by this institution will be more helpful than the welcome gift of Dr. Smith's address, for this speaker, as all know, is past master in the art of marshalling his facts in that delightful way which brings them all easily within the familiar grasp of every hearer.

Mr. T. A. Walker To Travel.

Mr. T. A. Walker has given up his position as manager for T. A. Walker & Co. and, beginning Monday, will travel for the F. B. Q. Clothing Company, New York. He still retains his interest in the company, Mr. Wade Stockard, who has been connected with the firm for over a year, becoming manager. Mr. Stockard will be assisted by Mr. Tracy Mebane, an experienced salesman formerly with C. H. Dorsett. Mr. Stockard will leave this week for New York to purchase Spring furnishings.

AGITATION AGAINST SUNDAY MAIL DELIVERY

Strong Sentiment Being Formed Against Practice in Many Cities.

There is a strong sentiment, which is gradually growing, throughout the country in favor of discontinuing the delivery of mail on Sundays.

In Greensboro the windows are kept open on Sundays from 8:30 to 10 a. m., the city carriers being required to be on hand and deliver mail to such of their patrons as call. This necessitates their being on hand about an hour earlier in order that they may sort the mail before the windows are opened, requiring them to work nearly half a day on each Sunday. The Ministerial Association has passed resolutions requesting that people refrain from calling for mail on Sundays, thus creating a sentiment that will eventually relieve the carriers of the necessity of working on Sunday.

As stated above the agitation has been commenced by people all over the country in favor of eliminating Sunday work by the city carriers. In Detroit the sentiment has assumed such proportions that the desired results have been attained. The postoffice employees are not permitted to stir up sentiment in their favor, but if the people do not require the labor the department permits them to remain at home on Sundays and rest. Many ministers and newspapers have begun the agitation with a view of relieving the carriers of this unnecessary work.

In his report to Congress the first assistant postmaster general has the following to say regarding service on Sundays and holidays, the same being in condensed form:

It is the policy of the department not to require any more work in postoffices on Sundays and holidays than is absolutely necessary to prevent congestion of the mails and to provide reasonable postal facilities for the public. To this end the department is endeavoring to bring about a greater degree of uniformity in the amount of Sunday work in postoffices throughout the country and to provide a day of rest for those employees who are compelled to work all day on Sunday. Reports from postmasters, however, indicate a wide difference in the amount of Sunday service, even in offices in the same locality and of the same grade. In practically all cities where city free delivery is in operation letter carriers are required to report on Sunday and route their mail for the first delivery Monday morning and to deliver mail for an hour or more to those who call at the windows. Practically one-half of the carriers are thus on duty every other Sunday. On holidays, as a general rule, one delivery of mail by letter carriers is made. In the mailing division of postoffices a considerable percentage of the clerks are on duty every Sunday for eight hours and a small percentage in the delivery division. This work is necessary and can not be curtailed, but in most instances it is possible to allow compensatory time off on other days of the week. As a rule, the money order, registry and stamp windows are closed on Sundays.

There is a very strong sentiment throughout the country in favor of the discontinuance of the delivery of mail on Sundays, and this sentiment should be respected. Postal employees are undoubtedly entitled to one day of rest in seven. All reputable commercial and industrial establishments close on Sundays. To accommodate the traveling public and those who have important personal mail arriving on Sundays it may be necessary to keep the general delivery window open, but it is the experience of the department that with the growing use of the special delivery service urgent messages requiring attention on Sunday are not sent in the ordinary mail and that calling at the postoffice on Sunday for mail is usually a matter of habit rather than necessity. It is, therefore, believed that, sustained by public sentiment, the Department will find it practicable to so curtail the delivery service as to make it possible eventually to relieve nearly all carriers from duty on Sunday and that with the cooperation of the postmasters it is feasible to provide one day of rest in seven for all clerks and carriers without any increase in force.

If the plan of discontinuing entirely Sunday service by letter carriers, which is now being tried in a number of the larger cities, where the sentiment of the communities is strongly in favor of Sunday closing, proves practicable, it would seem that the desired result may be attained without legislation.

When your husband goes out to buy socks, tell him to insist on "Holeproof"—tell him to look on the toes for our trademark.

This means more than you think—it means that if any holes appear within six months we give you new hosiery free.

But that is not all, the hosiery itself is more stylish and comfortable than any other on the market.

FAMOUS Holeproof Hosiery FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

The makers use only the finest and softest cotton from Egypt and the Sea Islands. They pay 63 cents a pound, but could buy ordinary cotton at 12 cents a pound.

The yarn is three-ply in the body and doubled to six-ply in the heels, toes and knees. Common hosiery is made of two-ply yarn throughout yet it costs you as much as "Holeproof."

Comfort is supreme in "Holeproof"—the fabric is as soft and smooth as silk. Style is increased for the hosiery is shaped to fit the ankle like a glove fits the hand.

Men's hose come in eleven attractive colors and women's in six. Price $1.50 to $3 a box of six pairs. Children's hose, in black and tan, at $2 a box of six pairs. Please come in and see this hosiery to-day—it costs no more than the ordinary.

Note to Head of the Family!

To the Head of the Family:

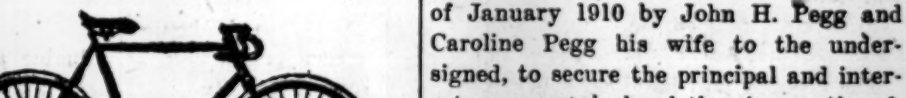

Let one of your New Year's resolutions be to relieve your wife of as much drudgery as possible. Why use longer the dangerous and unclean oil lamp when you can get electricity? Use the modern illuminant! Convenience and time considered, it's just as cheap.

Another aviator—Moissant—was killed yesterday. There can't be many left now.

In Wilmington yesterday an aged woman was burned. People cannot be too careful in guarding against fire and railroad trains. The very old are incapable of protecting themselves from the devouring flames and the younger members of households where old people live are charged with a grave responsibility in connection with these elderly and more or less incapacitated people.

This month the several churches of the city begin their preparations for a great simultaneous revival in the spring. In an age like this when there is so much higher criticism, so many new creeds, so many men and women claiming to be the only true prophets, it is good to see the standard religious denominations militant and efficient. The proposed simultaneous revival should and undoubtedly will inspire enthusiasm among the workers.

The Wilmington Star has a very timely editorial on "Advertising the Climate." While Wilmington has an endurable climate, of course it is nothing to compare with Greensboro's. In the Piedmont section is the finest, purest air without the severities of the more westerly section and Greensboro is at the very heart of the Piedmont section. There's nothing in the climate catalogue to surpass Greensboro's. And it should be advertised far more extensively than it is.

A Happy New Year to all! Nevertheless, it is well to bear in mind that any day is a good one on which to turn over a new leaf. There is an old saying that "there is always room at the top" and while it usually is made to apply to material success, it perhaps applies more suitably to self-conquest. Every time a man turns over a new leaf—and keeps it turned—he has made a step towards a better and a higher life. And while January one is the day supposed to be peculiarly suited to the purpose of getting a fresh start, any day is a mighty good day for that very thing.

The tragic death of a well known citizen yesterday is a solemn reminder of the possible propinquity of the grim destroyer when least expected. True, in the smaller places there is not so great danger of accidental death as in the great cities, but the proportion to population is no doubt just about the same, the care to shun accident that people have to practise in the great centers of population not being taken in communities where dangers are fewer. As long as men are insufficiently cautious in the presence of a danger that has become familiar—and that will be always—such shocking and deplorable accidents as that of yesterday will continue to occur.

Editor Josephus Daniels, of the Raleigh News and Observer, was presented the other night with a handsome silver service. The gift came as a token from the Democracy of North Carolina. Mr. Daniels is North Carolina's most conspicuous Democratic leader. Governors, Senators, Congressmen may come and go, but Daniels goes on forever. His ardor in behalf of the Democratic party is inextinguishable. Another party with the same principles but without the same name would be to Daniels like a rose without its fragrance, so long has the "Democratic party" been to him a name to conjure with. Most North Carolina editors can't recall the day when Daniels wasn't fighting the battles of the Democracy and such is the almost uncanny care which he takes of himself physically (allowing himself the luxury of no bad habit in all the category we are told) that he will still be doing business at the old stand when the North Carolina editors who know him now have quit their jobs in disgust, died from starvation or gone into politics. A very remarkable man in many respects, he has richly earned more honors by far than the Democratic party will probably bestow upon him.

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND ELEVEN—WHAT?

Another year lies buried. The work of 1910 whether well or badly done has ended. Our deeds, whether good or evil, are beyond recall. It is worth our while to ask ourselves in the beginning of this year what has the year just past meant to us? What events have taken place in our experience which have helped to shape our character or will influence our career? Or what have we done which will impress the world's life? What has the recording angel set down in the annals of the year of the things done in us or the things done by us? What use have we made of our opportunities for the betterment of the world? What have the year's disciplines done for the improvement and the enrichment of our life, the building up and strengthening of our character and sweetening of our disposition?

Life's circumstances and experiences are meant to be a school in which we may learn how to live. Fortunate are we if cheered by the memory of a well learned lesson and of duty faithfully performed. But if we have been weak and faithless and are haunted by the grim recollection of our mistakes and our sins, our regrets, our neglects and our sorrows—it is all the same. What has been done cannot now be undone. The good and bad are on record. We put it there ourselves. Tears cannot blot out the bad and vain regrets are worse than life. Only let the past year impart a guiding lesson for the future. And its lessons we must learn quickly.

This practical age does not tolerate vain regrets or silly tarrying, or long reprieves for sentimental farewells. Having studied and learned its lessons we must turn from the grave of 1910 to greet the dawn and face the responsibilities of another year. What its struggles and its demands may be it is impossible to foretell, but if we may judge it by the years gone before, it is safe to say that that person will emerge from it battle-crowded with the greatest success who does the most work and does it in the best way and who sticks always to the right. The amount of work we do will measure the success we will win, and to reach the goal we must follow the path of duty—follow it in the face of trial and temptation and with steps that never falter. From the wayside resting places that tempt us to their lethargic and deadly embrace, from the temptations that beset and blacken so many lives we must turn and into the thickest of the fight we must plunge if we would fight bravely and win worthily the great battles of the "New Year."

"Our lives should be like rivers broadening and deepening as they move on toward the great ocean. If we are learning nothing, if we are growing no wiser, no richer in thought and feeling, no lovelier in character, no more useful and helpful to others we have not yet learned how to live. New beauties of character should blossom out in each new year."

We should remember, too, that we are not to pass this way again; therefore whatever kindness we would do to others we must do as we go along. Days come but once, and they are quickly gone, bearing forever the touch of beauty or marred which we put upon them as they go by.

In conclusion, we need not make resolutions for the year. Years are made up of days and come to us one day at a time—not a whole year of them at once, but one by one, then let us make our resolutions at the beginning of each day. We should be able to "resolve" and to "be good" one day. We should be able to carry our burden, endure our sorrow, and do our work, however hard, for just one day, and if for one day, why

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

not for each succeeding day, so that when 1911 shall have taken its place along beside its predecessors our backward glance will reveal to us the fact that we have just lived the best year of our life.

THE NEW YEAR.

Nineteen Eleven Ushered in With Ringing Bells and Tooting Whistles.

As the clocks were tolling the hour of midnight the year 1910 silently took his departure from the halls of time and as silently and as swiftly the new year, 1911, took his place. So swift and so silent was the flight that the keenest eye could not see the departing figure of the old year nor the radiant face of the new.

However, at the appointed hour on every side could be heard the tolling bells, the solemn and sad requiem for the old and the joyful welcome to the new year. A number of whistles joined in the chorus and for a minute the air was alive with the reverberations.

A number of Greensboro people remained up to catch a last glimpse of the year that has been so full of joyousness and of sadness, of happiness and of misery, of plenty and of want, and to be among the first to herald the buoyant face of the new year so full of promise and opportunity and possibilities.

NEW YEAR'S IN NEW YORK.

Big Celebration More Costlier and More Noisier Than Ever Before. New York, Dec. 31.—All signs indicate that New York City's new year's celebration tonight will surpass all previous efforts. It will be costlier, noisier and more generally observed than ever before.

Several hundred thousand persons will serve on the reception committee, which will welcome 1911 at midnight and the hotel and restaurant men figure that Mr. and Mrs. New Year will incidentally put more than a million dollars into circulation. The major portion of this sum will go for wet goods, mostly champagne, although the fact that New Year is arriving on Saturday night means that the sale of liquid cheer will cease promptly at 12 o'clock. Mayor Gaynor several days ago refused to countenance any suspension of the usual Saturday night rule, but it will be possible for celebrators to purchase sufficient before midnight to last until any desired hour. Every chair in every important dining room in the city will be filled for the evening, many of the seats in the most popular restaurants having been reserved as far back as last August.

The police will be out in force to see that the celebration is kept within some bounds. "Ticklers," confetti and rowdism are barred by official edict, but there will be no attempt to put the soft pedal on noise.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

At the regular meeting of Keystone Council, No. 81, Jr. O. U. A. M. the following resolutions were adopted:

Honeycutt of Keystone Council, No. 81, in the loss of his wife we the undersigned are Resolved: Whereas the Almighty God in his omnipotence has seen fit to call away your beloved helpmeet from this world of sin, sorrow and suffering, we the undersigned in behalf of Keystone Council, No. 81, wish to extend our heartfelt sympathy, and

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the bereaved, also a copy be sent for publication to two papers—The Greensboro Daily News and The Greensboro Telegram. Trusting to remain yours in virtue, liberty and patriotism. W. F. Crayton, H. J. Elkins, I. E. Whitfield, Committee.

The plant at Greensboro is to be similar to the big emergency plant of the Southern Power Company of this city, which was built by Mr. Mallard. The Greensboro plant will be built with concrete and "unit" brick which are made in this city. Work has already begun on the plant and it will be pushed to completion as soon as possible. It is a big contract and will require several months to complete the work. Mr. Mallard is to be congratulated on securing a big contract like this. It is a big job for the Carolina Brick Company of this city, which has the contract to furnish the brick for the plant. The "unit" brick are to be used, which are made by the Carolina Brick Company and used in building the emergency plant of the Southern Power Company in this city.

Mr. Mallard built the emergency plant for the power company and used the "unit" brick, which he made in Greenville. The officials were so highly pleased with Mr. Mallard's work that as soon as the work had been finished here Mr. Mallard was offered another big contract at Greensboro, which he accepted. The emergency plant of the Southern Power Company here speaks well for the contractor as well as the Carolina Brick Company, whose brick were used. Mr. J. P. Mallard left yesterday for Greensboro, where he has accepted a position with his father on the big job.

The Southern Power Company's plant in this city is almost ready to begin actual work. The machinery has all been placed and there is only a little work to be done by the engineers and they will be ready to begin work.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year!

And we want to thank you for making the past year a successful one for us. Of course we worked hard for it, but without your liberal patronage our work would not have brought success.

Again we thank you. And we are going to try this year to give you better service than ever before. Our customers should have the very best we can give them, and we are going to see that they get it.

ONLY FIVE DAYS MORE of our big reduction sale of holiday goods. Are you getting your share of the bargains? Real bargains, too. 2 Solid Brass Tankards, large size, were $10.00, now $4.50, special. Japanese Wind Bells, 50 glass pendants, were 35c., now 25c. Leather Table Mats, assorted sizes, were 50c., $1.00 and $1.50, now 33c., 67c. and $1.00.

1 Handsome Leather Pillow Cover, hand illuminated, was $5.00, now $3.33. Soft Leather Shopping Bags, assorted sizes, were 50c., 75c., $1.25 and $2.00. Now 33c., 50c., 94c. and $1.33.

The first five days of our left-over sale have resulted in a very satisfactory clearing out of holiday goods, and in some decided bargains for our customers. The sale will not continue longer than the original ten days, so that now only five days remain. ### LOUISIANA SULPHUR MINE.

Largest One Known—Principal Source of World's Supply.

Logical Point.

It seems rather odd that so familiar a substance as sulphur should be found in paying quantities in very few localities. It is now principally supplied to the world from one mine, located in Calcasieu Parish, Louisiana.

Until five or six years ago Sicily was the chief source of supply, but since the discovery and perfection of the patented process employed in the Louisiana deposit, the Sicilian mines have forfeited their monopoly of the sulphur production of the world.

Sulphur was discovered in the southwestern part of Louisiana in 1858, while drilling a well for oil, but no notice was taken of its value until after the Civil War, when several unsuccessful attempts were made to sink a shaft to the sulphur deposits. It is the largest sulphur mine in the world, the sulphur production of Sicily coming from some 700 mines.

In 1870 a French company began work on an enormous scale to sink an 11-foot shaft to the deposit—500 feet beneath the surface. It was necessary to have cast in France the rings to be used for the caisson, as no foundries in the United States were capable of making satisfactory castings of the dimensions required.

These were 11 feet in diameter and 5 feet long. Each casting weighed seven and one-half tons. A conservative estimate places the cost of transportation alone on the material and machinery brought to the mine location at $300,000. This company never reached a sufficient depth to insert any of the cast-iron rings.

Several attempts were made by other companies, and altogether $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 were sunk in the mine. But while all of these attempts to secure the sulphur shaft mining failed, the subject was discussed in the scientific papers and came to the notice of Herman Frasch, a scientist who had some years previously invented a process for desulphurizing Lima oil, a task on which the Government of several European nations had chemists at work for years.

This process was eventually sold to the Standard Oil Company, as it had anticipated the successful attempt to desulphurize the oil commercially and had in storage 25,000,000 barrels of Lima oil, for which it had paid 14 cents a barrel, as it was good only for fuel previous to the invention of Mr. Frasch, which not only desulphurized the oil in commercial quantities, but the process added practically no extra expense in refining.

It is a significant fact that the Standard Oil Company today uses the same process in almost every detail. Mr. Frasch was induced to try his inventive genius on the sulphur problem. The success with which his effort was rewarded is best told in stating that the assessment of the mine in 1910 was $4,664,000.

The sulphur obtained from this mine, while not only almost chemically pure (the average test being 99.8 per cent.), contains not a trace of either selenium or arsenic, both of which are very objectionable. The principal manufacturers of sulphuric acid use this sulphur to the exclusion of the cheaper pyrites, on account of there being absolutely no danger of arsenic poisoning, as might be the case if pyrites was used.

Cicero on Wit.

There are witty sayings which carry a concealed suspicion of ridicule, of which sort is that of the Sicilian who, when a friend of his made lamentation to him saying that his wife had hanged herself upon a fig tree, said, "I beseech you give me some shoots of that tree that I may plant them." Of the same sort is what Crassus said to a certain bad orator who, when he imagined that he had excited compassion at the close of a speech, asked our friend here after he had sat down whether he appeared to have raised pity in the audience. "Very great pity," replied Crassus, "for I believe that there is no one here so hard hearted but that your speech seemed pitiable to him."—Cicero's Oratory.

A MILL HAND'S LIFE

The Average of Existence in Tariff-Made State of Rhode Island.

Ida M. Tarbell, in American Magazine. The average weekly earnings for 58 hours in cotton factories in a year were: For the carding-room, $7.90; for mule spinners, $12.92; for speeders, $10.62; for weavers, $10.38. In the woolen industry the picker received $8, the woman spinner $7.25, the man spinner $12.91, the weavers $15.34.

If a man could make these wages for 52 weeks a year throughout his working life if he had a thrifty wife and healthy children, his lot, if not altogether rosy, would be far from hopeless—he might even be able to realize the dream of a little home and garden of his own which lurks in the mind of every normal man. There are few old men and women in textile factories. By 55 they are unfit for the labor. The terrible strain on brain and nerve and muscle has so destroyed the agility and power of attention necessary that they must give up the factory, he drops out, picking up thereafter any odd job he may.

It is this short working life of the father, with the declining wage for years before it actually ends, that makes child labor an essential factor in the solving of the problem of the textile family. Without their help the father cannot support the family and lay aside anything to insure his own and his wife's future.

If the children prove healthy, if they "turn out well," if work is continuous, the little home may be secured and the modest little dream may come true. But suppose that a weaver, rushing into the cold air at the end of his 10-hour day, is chilled and has pneumonia—it happens often enough. Suppose an uncovered gear or belt catches him in an incautious moment and crushes a limb or takes his scalp, or a carelessly handled machine nips off a finger—it happens all the time. Suppose that, standing through the hot summer in the poisoned air of a dry closet, he falls ill of a fever. Or, if he escapes all these things, suppose that the factory goes on short time—thousands of operatives all over New England have had their weekly wages cut in half this last year by short time. Or, suppose that, which has happened repeatedly in Rhode Island, he is obliged by some intolerable condition to strike and have no wage—what happens then? That happens which I cannot but believe is more disastrous to the family than even child labor—the wife must go into the factory. The mothers go into the factory and the homes gradually go to pieces. How they manage the household at all it is hard to see. They must be at the factory at 6:30 a. m., sharp. They do not leave until 6:30 p. m. Before they go to work the breakfast must be prepared, and plans laid for the lunch which some child still in school brings to the mill.

After her 10 hours at spindle or loom the woman hurries to a cold, unkempt house, which she must make comfortable and cheerful if it is to be so. Is it strange that the homes of the factory mothers are generally untidy, the food poor, the children neglected? How can it be otherwise? Her limit of endurance, of ambition, of joy, even of desire of life, has been passed. More appalling, she sees her ability to work falling off. Almost universally, I should say, women who have worked 10 years in a factory have the patent-medicine habit—they are "so tired" they "take something." Is it surprising that a few of them finally discover that they can get from beer or whiskey the same temporary strength at less cost? The surprise is not that many drink, but that more do not.

Now the hope of this factory mother lies in her child, since she, like her husband, is bound to wear out at a comparatively early age. And what chance has she to bear a healthy child? They give you heart-breaking figures of infant mortality in Rhode Island, and everywhere one goes what one sees and hears confirms their truthfulness.

It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. This great change in condition I owe to Foley's Kidney Pills and recommend them to anyone suffering as I have." Howard Gardner.

For either acute or chronic kidney disorders, for annoying and painful urinary irregularities take Foley's Kidney Pills. An honest and effective medicine for kidney and bladder disorders. Howard Gardner.

to ask a friend to do you a favor when it is impossible to secure the favor in any other way. But why ask a friend to go on your bond as surety when the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company can give better security than an individual at no extra cost for its faithful discharge of its duty as a trustee or executor or administrator. Why should you sign a bond by which your "heirs, executors, administrators and assigns are held and firmly bound" to pay for the default of others; perhaps after your death, every dollar of your estate? Tell your friend not to burden you with such a grave responsibility. Let the Greensboro Loan & Trust Company become responsible.
